Participants will be able to brainstorm and anticipate behavior challenges that they may experience with Pre-K students that have not been exposed to a structured environment and create lessons to address behaviors.

Participants will be able to generate ideas for creating a guidelines for success acronym or transform their current acronym to assist with creating a social-learning environment in all common areas.

Participants will be able to use guidelines for success acronym to create PBIS classroom management folders with lessons to teach behavior expectations and documentation.

Participants will be able to create examples of monthly Pre-K Style assemblies with focused themes related to consistent guidelines for success acronym.

Participants will walk away with ideas to create a social learning environment that can easily and quickly be implemented in any learning environment and continuously be utilized for upcoming school years.
